

PRECISION ENGINEERING

CREATING NEW CAREERS

Are you ready for a career in Precision Machining?

If you are interested in a career in precision machining and have the desire, drive and determination to succeed in this most rewarding of roles, are looking for the next step in your career as a skilled CNC Machine Operator, then we want to hear from you.

Lattimer, a World leading supplier to the Glass Container manufacturing industry, based in Southern New Jersey, are now looking for candidates to join our successful, ambitious and talented team.

At Lattimer, our skilled, dedicated and experienced workforce play a crucial role in our continued growth and success, and so competitive packages are offered to our employees.

Our package includes:

- Competitive salary based on experience
- Attractive health care insurance and holiday/vacation benefits
- Signing bonus on completion of 90 days probation period
- 401K package
- Full training and personal development opportunities provided
- Multiple shift opportunities, with shift differential pay
- Air conditioned working environment

For further information about how you can start the process to join our elite team, please call: (856) 691-2203 or alternatively visit www.lattimer.com/vacancies
Scan the QR to link to the vacancies page on our website